

amendment being to strike the enacting clause.

PRESIDENT: Senator Pappas, please.

SENATOR PAPPAS: Mr. President, colleagues, before we take a vote on this bill, I think there are a few things that should be pointed out. One, there has been very little debate on this particular subject. It just kind of passed through General File and Select File very rapidly. And you've got to take into consideration the senator that introduced it and who he replaced. You remember who he replaced, and some of the things that he would pass through on us real fast. So I am assuming that the senator he replaced passed that information on to him. I think we should look very closely at this particular piece of legislation before we send it onto the Governor's desk, especially since I think this is his first bill that he's got up here on Final Reading. We should look at it very closely.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. There are no other lights on, so.... Well, a light did come on. Senator Weihing, I guess he wants to withdraw his motion, so you are not going to get to talk. All right, read the bill, Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: (Read LB 145 on Final Reading.)

PRESIDENT: All provisions of law relative to procedure having been complied with, the questions is, shall LB 145 pass with the emergency clause attached? All those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. Record, Mr. Clerk, please.

CLERK: (Read record vote. See page 1336 of the Legislative Journal.) 39 ayes, 0 nays, 10 excused and not voting, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: LB 145 passes with the emergency clause attached. I would like to introduce some guests in the north balcony this morning. Senator Goodrich has 35 eighth grade students from St. Thomas More School in Omaha. They are accompanied by their teacher. Would you folks please stand and be recognized by your Legislature. Thank you for visiting us this morning. You are experiencing a delightful session of the Legislature this morning which is called Final Reading. Of course, each bill must be carefully and distinctly read before its passage. So the bill that you just heard read had to do with the dry bean checkoff bill. I'm sure if you were listening you realized that. But we are happy to have you with us this morning.
